

Solar energy...

is powering new jobs in the city

Greater University Circle will soon have the largest concentration of solar energy in the Midwest, thanks to rooftop solar systems installed by Ohio Cooperative Solar. The company is part of a growing network of employee-owned, green businesses supported by the Cleveland Foundation.

$3 billion...
is definitely worth keeping

Greater University Circle's major medical, educational, and cultural institutions spend $3 billion on goods and services annually. To keep those dollars here, the Cleveland Foundation is supporting the creation of green, worker-owned businesses to supply those needs, create new jobs, and revitalize the neighborhood economy.
